COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.

Charge to the Grand Jury.

Before Judge Ingraham. On the opening of the court yesterday the Grand Jury were charged by Judge Ingraham as to their on a decrease in crime. Since he had held this branch on a decrease in crime. Since he had held this branch of the court last, crime of a serious character, and especially of homicide, had been frequent, more so than ever before in his recollection. Many of these were the result of sudden affrays between drunken persons. Breaches of the law against carrying concealed weapons tend to the increase of this species of crime. Another occurred through the workings of revenge for in the commission of robbery. But in all cases he would urge them to act promptly and bring to trial all offenders. He said it required sixteen members of the jury to present at all dehberations, and twelve were required to make good an indictment, and concluded by saying, "I know of nothing particular cailing upon me to direct your attention to at the present time, other than the ordinary business of the court, which will be submitted to you by the District Attorney. I had intended to say something to you on another subject, but circumstances which I deem it unnecessary now to mention make it advisable I should not. I need not say, gentlemen, that I feel should not. I need not say, gentlemen, that I feel should not. I need not say, gentlemen, that I feel should not. I need not say, gentlemen, that I feel should not. I need not say, gentlemen, that I feel should not. I need not say, gentlemen, that I will be a second of this duty without fear or favor, affection, partiality or malice. Those things should be unbiased and should have no prejudice against anybody that comes before you. Disregarding popular claimor, you will simply discharge your duty according to the evidence that is placed before you, and suffer nothing else of any kind to influence you in your determinations. I have no doubt, gentlemen, that oath will be faithfully performed by you.

SUPREME COURT-CHAMBERS.

Action Against the New York Guano Company-Motion to Stay Proceedings.
Before Judge Cardozo, alducin et al. vs. New York Guano Company.

In this case, which has been a long time before the courts, a motion was made by defendants to stay dings under judgment of foreclosure without ty. The New York Guano Company was proceedings under Judgment of foreclosure without security. The New York Guano Company was formed on the basis of two Islands in the Caribbean Bea, called the Swan Islands, with 100,000 shares of capital. They issued bonds of the par value of $200,000, secured by a mortgage to the plainting as trustee. These bonds were soid at fifty-live cents on the dollar. The interest not being paid on the bonds, the trustee foreclosed, and the judgment in foreclosure was entered in last August. The case now comes up on motion to stay proceedings under the judgment of fereclosure until the appeal from that judgment can be heard. The defendants ask that this be without security, but offer to permit the principal bondholder to take possession as a receiver. They claim that the defences interposed of want of power in the company to mortgage and of irregularity and fraud in the issue of bonds were improperly adjudicated by the referee and that the bondholders having possession cannot be injured.

The plaintiff declines the offer of a receivership on the ground that the islands are practically worthless; that it requires a constant expense without any return, to merely keep possession of the islands, already amounting to some $5,000, and that every day during which they are compelled to keep possession involves an expense of some eight or ten dollars a day, and that the Court should not favor a company which on such slender basis issued so targely of stock and bonds. He offers to discontinue the suit on receiving back his money without interest.

In reply it was urged that the plaintiff had shown

In reply it was urged that the plaintif had shown a curious eagerness, if the property were so worthless, in forcing it to a saie, involving a suspicion that he desired to produce it for himself.

That the questions involved in the appeal were at least doubtful, and it would be inequitable to force the company to a sacrifice, in view of that fact.

On conclusion of argument the Court reserved judgment.

Notice to the Bar. Judge Barnard issued a special notice resterday that the motion calendar will not be called to-day, but only ex parte business attended to.

COMMON PLEAS-SENERAL TERM.

Sale and Transfer of Stocks-Important Opinion.

Before Judges Daly, Van Brunt and Loew Tiric D. Coman et al. vs. The Gutta Farm Oil Com any.—This was an appeal from a judgment of the al term of this court in favor of the plaintiffs The facts on which the action was brought were as The facts on which the action was brought were as follows:—On the 1st of May, 1855, Edward Flash was the owner of 2,625 shares of the capital stock of the defendants, and was credited with that amount of stock on their books. Fifteen hundred of these shares are represented by three certificates of 500 shares each, numbered respectively 59, 60 and 62. These certificates were in the following words:—Fiftis is to certify that Edward Flash is entitled to 600 shares of the capital stock of the Guild Farm on Company, transferable only on the books of said company of him or his attorney, upon the surrender of this certainent. Flash, for value received, soid and assigned to plaintiffs, in the manner prescribed by the rules of the corporation, 1,500 shares of this stock, and delivered to them the three certificates therefor, on which was endorsed the assignment, and constituting the plaintiffs his attorney irrevocable to make proper transfer of the stock on the books of the company. On the 2d of February, 1868, before defendants had notice of the assignment of the stock, the Sheriff levied on ft under an attachment against Flash, Issued by the Supreme Court, the president of the company, at the same time, giving to the Sheriff a certificate that 2,600 shares of the stock was then standing on their books in the name of Flash. Bubsequently plainting presented the assigned certificates for 1,500 shares, and demanded a transfer of them in their name, offering at the same time to surrender the certificates to the company as required by their terms. Defendants refused to make the transfer of its size to the stock was then standing on their books in the shares to plaintiffs, basing their refusal on the fact that the shares were aiready held under attachment against Flash. An action was thereupon commenced by plaintiffs against defendant to recover the value of the stock, which resulted in a judgment in plaintiffs favor, from which an appeal was taken to the General Term. follows:-On the 1st of May, 1865, Edward Flash was from which an appear was taken to the General Term.

Judge Van Brunt, in delivering the opinion of the Court, sustaining the judgment of the Special Term in favor of the plaintiffs, says:—The law of this State is that the sestimes and holder of the scrip or certificate of stock is the holder of the stock as against the assigner and as against all persons not having a prior equity, and the legal title is only not transferred as respects the corporation and for its protection. The right of the plaintiffs in this case could be defeated only by some person who had a prior equitable title to thus stock, and the Sheriff, under an attachment issued after the purchase and assignment to plaintiffs does not acquire any such prior equity. Judgment affirmed.

Alleged Rape-Disagreement of the Jury. Before Gunning S. Bedford, City Judge.

The only case tried before a jury in this court yesterday was an indictment against James Lane, charging him with perpetrating a rape upon Ellen Conroy, a domestic in his house, in July last, at his residence in Eighty-eighth street. The girl gave a marrative of his treatment of her with an air of apparent candor and truthfulness, and said that when also told the occurrence next day to police officers she stated that Lane went into her room and "nad the best of her." The policemen positively swore that she companied to them of Lane beating her and butting her out of the house, but made no statement of an outrage baying been committed upon her per-of an outrage baying been committed upon her person.

Mr. Hows defended the prisoner and made an eloquent summing up speech, in the course of which he alluded to the condust of Queen Elizabeth upon a certain occasion.

Assistant District Autorney Fellows made a brief speech, but, owing to the mantiest contradictions in the testimony, did not "push" for a conviction with his usual energy and eloquence.

Judge Bedford delivered an elaborate, clear and impartial charge. The jury remained in their room for several nours, and when called into court the foreman said they could not sgree. The fact of their being unable to agree astonished the audlence.

Mr. Fellows stated that as this was the first case tried by the jury this term he dat not desire that the Court should keep them locked up for the night.

Judge Bedford learning from the foreman that it was impossible for them to agree, they were discharged from the further consideration of the case and the prisoner was remanded to the Tombs. It was whispered around the court room that Lane is well known to tan authorities.

The following is the calendar for to-day:—The People vs. James McCarroll and Paurick Mathews, murder; George Weber, Eva Henry, Elizabeth Devilin and Thomas Frazer, grand larceny: Frank Queen and Rebecca Herman, larceny from the person.

EROOKLYN COURTS.

SUPERIOR COURT-SPECIAL TERM. The Obstructions at Hell Gate. Before Judge Pratt.

John J. Steuben vs. General John Newton and Au gustus C. Reighthimer .- The defendants were employ ed by the government to remove the obstructions at Hell Gate and, a few days since, Judge Pratt, upon Heil Gate and, a few days since, Judge Pratt, upon the application of plaintiff, granted a temporary injunction against them, the plaintiff setting forth that the shower of rocks from the blasting of the reef there endangered the lives of his workmen at Hallett's point, and hindered them in their operations. Plaintiff claimed that the defendants should either buy his premises or cease the work.

The defence is that every possible precaution had been taken to avoid danger, and that any dumage that plaintiff might have suffered was unavoidable. Testerday application was made by the defence to have the injunction dissolved. Judge Pratt reserved his decision.

George E. King vs. John B. Romar, as President of the National Stock Exchange.—Upon the petition the defendant in this suit, the Court yesterday issued an order directing the receiver to sell the lease of the first floor and basement of No. 9 Broad street. New York, for not less than $19,000 cash, and afterwards to sell the property of the National Stock Exchange for the best interests of the parties interested.

On defendant, Frict, to do a portion of the work. On the night of October 22, 1868, the plaintiff, who was a washerwoman, fell into a deep hole which had been dug at the corner of Twenty-seventh street and Fourth avenue and sus-tained injuries which disabled her for seven-months, during which time she was unable to walk without a crutch. She brought sunt to recover damages in the sum of $5.000, alleging that the ac-cident occurred through the negligence of the de-fendants.

The Commissioners claimed that the avenue was not a public thorougnfure at the time the accident Judge Neilson charged that the jury was to de-termine whether proper precautions had been taken to prevent any accident by the placing of safeguards around the hole. The jury rendered a vertict for the plaintiff and assessed damages

UNITED STATES COURT AT TRENTON.

The October term of the United States District Court of New Jersey commenced at Trenton yesterday, Judge Nixon presiding. After several minor cases were heard the Grand Jury roll was called and the following presentments disposed of:-A true bill was found against Patrick H. McDouagh, for obtaining money under faise prefences. It sp-pears the accused called on John McInnis at floboken some time ago, and, representing himself to be a revenue officer, demanded $100 from him, or he would have him arrested for violation of the revenue laws. Melinns, fearing detection, quietly paid him the money. Melionach, finding the trick succeeded, called on five other parties in succession, and acting in the same way managed to pocket a very large sum, amounting, it is stated, to $10,000 altogether, from his unsuspecting victims. He tried the game once too olien, however, for he was cleverly caught in his last act and longed in prison. The Court ordered that he be tried on Thursday the lith mst.

Bills were also found against Michael J. Brown, and James Ben for carrying on business in Newark, as wholesale and renal inquor dealers without a license. They were bailed for trial. Econund W. Davids for passing a counterfelt ten dohar off in Newark, was also indicted. Alexander Robertson, a boy, for taking certain money letters from the Post Office in Jersey City. William Howe, a lad infrieen years, for breaking open the letter-box of the Morris Canat Company in Jersey City and taking a quantity of tetters therefrom which he mischlevonsly destroyed. THE CLEARING HOUSE ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Clearing House Association. The annual meeting of the Glearing House Association was held to-day, when a report was read embracing the figures of the year's business. The total clearances from October 1, 1869, to October 1, 1870, were $27,804,539,405, and the daily average clearances $90,274,478. In the corresponding period of 1888-69 the total annual clearances reached $38,000,-000,000 and the daily clearances an average of $125,000,000. The failing off is due to the greater dulness at the Stock Exchange and Gold Board of duiness at the Stock Exchange and Gold Board of the past twelve months. The last mentioned totals were for the period of great activity which culminated with the panic in September, 1869—a blow from which Wall street has not as yet recovered. MONEY SASY.

The money market has drifted into a monotonous steadiness, and by general consent the rate on government collaterals ranges from four to five per cent and on stocks from five to six per cent. The freer movement in commercial paper has diminished the sup, ly on the market, and hence there is a dis-position to lower rates on the part of buyers. Prime double name acceptances are in request at 7% to 8

The advance in our bonds to 91 in London, the money market is reported so easy that the street rate is 1 to 1% per cent for loans, produced a sharp decline in gold, which, opening at 113% on the street before the board, fell to 113, where it encountered a covering movement on the part of the "shorts," which caused an eventual reaction to 113%, the upward turn being stimulated by the scarcity of cash gold, for which some borrowers paid as high as ½ per cent. Exceptional transac-tions occurred at flat for borrowing, but the average of the loaning rate was about 3-64 for borrowing. The decline was further stimulated by the rates for which yielded a quarter per cent, even in nominal quotations, while actual sales occurred an eighth per cent lower. The range of rates at the close was as follows:--Sterling sixty days, commercial, 108 a 168%; bankers', 108% a 109%; short sight, 100% a 110; Antwerp, 5.20 a 5.15; Hamburg, 35% a 35%; Amsterdam, 40% a 40%; Prankfort, 40% a 41; Bremen, 78 a 75%; Prussian thalers, 70% a 71%.

The government market was disposed to weakness, in sympathy with the decline in gold, but ral-lied and closed steady on the news of the advance in five-twenties at London. General Hillhouse, the Assistant United States Treasurer, announces that, In conformity with instructions from the Secretary of the Treasury, the bonds of the United States, issued under the act of Congress passed June 22, 1860, and falling due January 1, 1871, commonly known as the five per cents of 1871, will be paid at his office on presentation, upon an adjustment of the interest at the rate of six per cent per annum. Bonds presented for redemption will be received and paid for, subject to examination by the Treasury Department at Washington. One of the national banks, an insurance company and three private banking firms availed themselves of the above to-day and converted $521,000 of the bonds into gold.
